18/03/78

CARSHALTON ATH. 1, WYCOMBE WAND. 1

AFTER THE previous week's thriller against champions elect Enfield, the visit of second placed Wycombe to Colston Avenue on Saturday was like chasing bubbling champagne with a glass of flat beer.

The first half, especially, was a lack-lustre affair with much of the play confined to midfield and although the second half was an improvement — it just had to be — the match as a whole never really got off the ground.

However, a share of the Isthmian League Premier Division points was probably a fair reflection of the exchanges, leaving Wycombe still in with a mathematical chance of catching runaway leaders Enfield and Robins still in the top half of the table.

Inspired by five-star displays by Peter Gaydon and Alan Phillips, defences dominated the day and real chances at both ends could be counted on the fingers of one hand.

Horseman injured. With Mascall also out and Davies at he began the game happy to settle for a point.

At the end, he reckoned that his team should have Wycombe lack punch up front and Reardon was the first that Wanderers have reached second spot in the table des vious lack of strike power.

Carshalton are going through a bad patch and manager Amato readily admits it. In the previous five matches they had just two goals.

This time, he tried to overcome it by playing the deterr Roseman up front in preference to the more cultured C. But, long term, Amato is seeking several new players.

The first 45 minutes produced little to cheer the 366 with the visitors carving just two openings while Robin three.

All the home chances fell to Graham Dennis who alw
